

OTHER ACADEMIC PROJECTS 1991-1992Seminars

July 25, 1991

The Fosdick Mountains Metamorphic Complex in Marie Byrd Land, West Antarctica: A Geological Report and Travelog, speakers: Dr. Stephen M. Richard and Christine Smith, Institute for Crustal Studies

September 26, 1991

Experience in the Regional Assessment of Ground Water Resources in the USSR, speaker: Dr. Igor S. Zektser, USSR Academy of Sciences

October 29, 1991

Structural Details Along the San Jacinto Fault Zone Salton Trough, California, speaker: Dr. Jarg Pettinga, University of Canterbury, Christchurch, New Zealand

November 25, 1991

Cooling History of the Central Brooks Range, Alaska: Constraints from Fission-Track and $^{40}\text{Ar}/^{39}\text{Ar}$ Data, speaker: Dr. Ann Blythe, Department of Geological Sciences, UCSB

December 6, 1991

American Geophysical Union Practice Talks in preparation for the American Geophysical Union Conference (December 1991) Various ICS participants

January 30, 1992

Issues in Vadose Zone Monitoring Network and Design: Problems and Promising Practical Solutions, speaker: John Kramer, Vadose Zone Monitoring Lab, Institute for Crustal Studies

March 19, 1992

Slip Transfer Through the Ocotillo Badlands Compressional Fault Jog, Coyote Creek Fault, Southern California, speaker: Norm Brown, Institute for Crustal Studies

April 27, 1992

Geometry and Kinematics of the Stockton Fault of Central California, speaker: Doug Imperato, Institute for Crustal Studies

May 28, 1992

Mesozoic Sea Floor Spreading in the Southern Ocean: New Constraints on the Bellingshausen Plate Problem, speaker: Carol Raymond, Jet Propulsion Laboratory, Pasadena, California

June 11, 1992

Crustal Deformation Associated with Increased Seismicity ($M > 4.5$) in the Los Angeles Region, 1978-1990, speaker, Ken Hudnut, Cal-Tech

Workshops

September 4-6, 1991

Eastern California Shear Zone-Workshop

February 27, 1992

Prediction of Strong Ground Motion as part of the Southern California Earthquake Center monthly seminar series, speakers: Steve Day, San Diego State University, John Anderson, University of Nevada, Mackay, Ralph J. Archuleta, Institute for Crustal Studies, Kei Aki, University of Southern California